POETRY.

Good Bye—Good Bye.

Farewell! farewell! is often heard
From the lips of those who part:
'Tis a whispered tone—'tis a gentle word,
But it springs not from the heart.
It may serve for the lover's closing lay,
To be sung 'neath a summer's sky;
But give to me the lips that say
The honest words—"Good bye!"

Adieu! Adieu! may greet the ear,
In the guise of courtly speech:
But when we leave the kind and dear,
'Tis not what the soul would teach.
Whene'er we grasp the hands of those
We would have forever nigh,
The flame of friendship bursts and glows
In the warm, frank words—"Good bye."

The mother, sending forth her child
To meet with cares and strife,
Breathes thro' her tears her doubts and fears
For the lov'd one's future life,
No cold "adieu" no "farewell" lives
Within the choking sigh;
But the deepest sob of anguish gives—
"God bless thee, boy, good bye!"

Go watch the pale and dying one,
When the glance has lost its beam——
When the brow is cold as marble stone,
And the world a passing dream:
And the latest pressure of the hand,
The look of the closing eye,
Yield what the heart must understand,
A long— a last "Good bye!"

IT ONLY SEEMS THE OTHER DAY.

Though swiftly Time, with rapid wings,
Has borne us from old scenes we knew,
Yet memory oft the picture brings
In glowing colors back to view;
Thus early friends remember when
They first as school boys met in play,
And yet, though years have passed since then,
It only seems "the other day."

The form of her we loved of yore,
To whom we pledged affection's vow,
Will glide before our eyes once more,
Though but in memory living now;
Of that dark hair one tress alone—
A treasured gift—is spared decay,
Yet words in that familiar tone
Seem only breathed "the other day."

These friends appear no more the same,
That shared our mirth and dried our tears,
Or taught us childhood's favorite game—
The dear old friends of early years;
But when we ask if they forget
Those memories of the past, they say—
Though time has worked some changes, yet
It only seems "the other day."

A Mother's Love.

Children, look in those eyes, listen to that dear voice, notice the feeling of even a single touch that is bestowed upon you by that gentle hand! Make much of it while you yet have that most precious of all good gifts—a loving mother. Read the unfathomable love of those eyes; the kind anxiety of that tone and look, however slight your pain. In after life you may have friends—fond, dear kind friends—but never again will you have the inexpressible love and gentleness lavished upon you which none but a mother bestows.—Often do I sigh in my struggles with the hard uncaring world, for the sweet, deep security I felt, when of an evening, nestling to her bosom, I listened to some quiet tale suitable to my age, read in her tender and untiring voice. Never can I forget her sweet glances cast upon me when I appeared to sleep: never her kiss of peace at night!—Years have passed away since we laid her beside my father in the old church yard, yet still her voice whispers from the grave, and her eye watches over me as I visit spots long since hallowed to the memory of my mother.

Just as we Expected.

Since the opening of the canvass for Governor, Mr. Pool has been represented as using offensive epithets on different occasions, such as "liar," "scoundrel," &c., and at one or two places he is reported as using personal and insulting language towards Gov. Ellis. We expected to hear of Gov. Ellis resenting such language if Mr. Pool continued it, and it appears that at Hendersonville he did resent it. Of course the opposition press are trying to make it appear that Gov. Ellis was in the wrong; and a card is published in the Raleigh Register, signed by Mr. Pool's friends, giving a one sided statement of the difficulty. Even that card represents Mr. Pool as saying that Gov. Ellis was "no gentleman," whereupon Gov. Ellis made at him, but was prevented by those standing near from striking. Every man who knows Gov. Ellis, knows that he is one of the most even and best tempered men in the State, not easily excited, but ever ready to resent a direct insult; and the opposition will have to offer some better evidence than they have to prove that he acted too hastily or was in the wrong at Hendersonville.

Pay as You Go.

John Randolph of Ronoake, said the whole economic wisdom of life lay in four words:—Pay as You Go. It is as true as truth itself. No one can tell how he is living if bills come floating loosely in like snow flakes. He will be deeply involved before he knows it. Besides nobody receives the worth of his money who buys goods on credit. He always pays about fifteen or twenty per cent more than the cash purchaser. Then what a comfort it is to sit down to a breakfast every item of which is paid for; to live in a house which is your own, or one which the rent is punctually paid: to have your coat paid for when you first put it on; to sit by a fire when the coal bill is receipted! What a comfort, never to be startled at the ringing of the door-bell, but to be able to go placidly down and meet the gentleman who wishes to see you, without fear of any "little bill," and to be absolutely and unqualifiedly able to walk any street in town without the faintest disposition to turn a corner, let who may loom in the distance.

No man can fully understand the Declaration of Independence, who is not out of debt; for the wisest of men said, nearly three thousand years ago: "The borrower is a servant to the lender." To use another Orientalism, the borrower never can be certain that the lender will not make him "eat dirt." The man who keeps his conscience clear, and keeps out of debt, may defy the world and the foul fiend.

An Awful Warning.

The Baltimore Clipper of June 1st., has the following:

We heard yesterday, from an entirely satisfactory and responsible source, the particulars of an occurrence which can be looked upon as an instance of Divine rebuke for taking the name of the Almighty in justification of a falsehood. We refrain from mentioning names, through consideration of the parties, who are respectable persons, residing in the South-western section of the city. It appears that a few days since the aunt of a young girl about seventeen years of age, accused her of being guilty of some misconduct, which she positively denied, and on being again accused, she called upon God to strike her blind, if she was not telling the truth.—In a moment after, according to her own statement, a film seemed to pass over her eyes, and in the course of five minutes she was totally blind, and has continued so ever since. The afflicted victim of her own impiety, confessed that she called upon her Maker to justify her in what was a falsehood.

Don't You do It.

When you are offered a great bargain the value of which you know nothing about, but which you are to get at half price, "being it's you," don't you do it.

When a clique of warm friends want you to start a paper to forward a particular set of views, and promise you a large quantity of fortune, and fame, to be gained in the undertaking, don't you do it.

When a young lady catches you alone, lays violent eyes upon you, expressing "pop" in every glance, don't you do it.

When a petulent individual politely observes to you—"You had better eat me up, had'nt you?" don't you do it.

When a horse kicks you, and you feel a strong disposition to kick the horse in return, don't you do it.

When you are shining it very expeditiously round town, in search of somebody with something over, who can assist you with a loan, and you are suddenly anticipated, by somebody, who wants to borrow from you, don't you do it.

Should you happen to catch yourself whistling in a printing office, and the compositors tell you to whistle louder, don't you do it.

If on an old occasion your wife should exclaim to you—"Now, tumble over the cradle and break your neck, do!" don't you do it.

When you have any business to transact with a modern financier, and he asks you to go and dine with him, don't you do it.

BOAST NOT OF YOUR PARENTAGE.—Never talk of your parentage; for, if it is honorable, you virtually acknowledge your claims to rest on the merits of others; or, if it is mean, you wish to show that something good has at length come out of Nazareth; or, if it is neither, your conversation can be only interesting to yourself.

☞A clerk having put some candles in a cellar one day the proprietor told him that he thought it was too damp a place for them, and that they would be likely to mould.—"Likely to mould!" replied the clerk; "if that is the case we had better put our tallow there also, and perhaps it will mould into candles."

Old Bachelors.

Bless their honest souls! They would be married in a minute if they could only find somebody, that just suited them. Who ever thought a man was an old bachelor because he could find no one to have him?

The idea is perfectly absurd. He has his pick out of all creation, but the trouble is, there is such a variety of roses and lilies in the market that he distrusts his own judgment, and durst not make a selection lest he should not get the best.

Poor, dear old bachelor! We do not pity you much. We only wish you had a little more self-reliance, and a little less fear of the ladies. They are not such terrible strong-minded, extravagant articles after all. We think many of them are really beautiful and interesting. To be sure our fashionable seminaries turn out some very simple specimens of womankind, but you are not obliged to make your selections from this assorted lot; you are not obliged to marry a manufactured article.

There are natural, noble, pure, high-souled free thinking, independent women in the land, and they make a man the very best kind of a wife—but let me whisper one word in your ear, they will not marry you unless you are, every inch of you, a whole souled, worthy man!

Such women are not half so afraid of being called old maids as they are of becoming the wives of mean men. We do not wish to insinuate that all old bachelors are mean, or too penurious to support a wife, or too afraid to be under "petticoat government" to get married! We are acquainted with many old bachelors who are among our most esteemed and talented friends. They have, too, a high appreciation of female character; their ideal of female perfection is not so very far from what the female character should be.

In some instances we think they remain single when a mote thorough knowledge of the female character would inspire them with courage and hope. We believe that, for promotion of true happiness, congenial and harmonious union is the rule, and celibacy the exception. But, unles such relations can be formed, unless the basis of union is true love, we are of the opinion that more happiness is found in single life. We have no sympathy with that old bachelor who condemns the whole female sex for follies and extravagancies of the few. He ought to make himself worthy of a pure and lovely woman, and they should possess discernment enough to select such an one.

Bachelors, what do you say to making the experiment, and telling us the results?

WHICH IS WHICH.—Recently a mother and daughter in Albany were both confined on the same day; their babies, both boys, were placed in one cradle, and so mixed up that they don't know which is which. It is a singular and distressing case. The oldest of the women can only know that one is her son and the other her grandson. If she takes her grandson for her son, he will be the brother of his mother; or if the youngest mother brings up her mother's son as her own she nurses her own brother. As their features develope, however, it may appear that Nature has legibly stamped the parentage of the infants; but absolute certainty must always be wanting. Were Solomon called on to decide, he would find use for all his wisdom.

HEALTH OF AMERICANS.—De Bow's mortality statistics, compiled from the last census, show that the people of the United States are the healthiest on the globe. The deaths are three hundred and twenty thousand per year, or one and a half per cent. of the population. In England the ratio is near two per cent. Virginia and North Carolina are the healthiest of the States, and have six hundred and thirty-eight inhabitants over one hundred years of age. These figures, however, may all be reversed by the next census, for the medical schools were never more flourishing, twenty-six colleges having graduated last year about thirteen hundred doctors.

☞An old fashioned, wealthy codger, was never known to have anything in the line of new apparel but once; then he was going on a journey, and had to purchase a new pair of boots. The stage left before day, and so he got ready and went to the hotel to stop for the night. Among a whole row of boots, in the morning, he could not find the old familiar pair. He had forgotten the new ones—he hunted, and hunted in vain. The stage was ready, and so he looked carefully around to see that he was not observed, put on a nice pair that fitted him, called the waiter and told him the circumstances, giving him a V for the owner of the boots when he should call for them. The owner never called: the old gent had bought his own boots.

Take Care of Your Eyes.

One of the most eminent American divines, who has for some time been compelled to forego the pleasure of reading, has spent some thousands of dollars in vain, and lost years of time, in consequence of getting up several hours before day and studying by artificial light. His eyes will never get well.

Multitudes of men and women have made their eyes weak for life, by the too free use of eyesight in reading fine print and doing fine sewing. In view of these things, it will be well to observe the following rules in the use of the eyes:

Avoid all sudden changes between light and darkness.

Never begin to read, write, or sew, for several minutes after coming from darkness to a bright light.

Never read by twilight, or moonlight, or on a very cloudy day.

Never read or sew directly in front of the light, or window, or door.

It is best to have the light fall from above obliquely, over the left shoulder.

Never sleep so that on the first awakening the eye shall open on the light of a window.

Do not use the eyesight by light so scant that it requires an effort to discriminate.

The moment you are instinctively prompted to rub the eyes, that moment cease using them.

If the eyelids are glued together, on waking up, do not forcibly open them; but apply the saliva with the finger—it is the speediest dilutant in the world; then wash your eyes and face in warm water.—Hall's Journal of Health.

How is This?

It seems that Mr. Pool's friends are not so confident of his election as they would make us believe. If they are confident of his election, why did the gentleman who occupies Mr. Pool's law office in Elizabeth City, (we forget his name,) require a pledge from a gentleman who was expected to be the opposition candidate for the Commons, that he would support Mr. Pool for U. S. Senator? A letter was written to Mr. F. M. Charles of Pasquotank county, desiring that he would promise to go for Pool for U. S. Senator, whether he (Pool) was elected Governor or not. That letter lets the secret out that the opposition intend to run Mr. Pool for U. S. Senator whether he is elected Governor or not. Now we ask, if they intend to run Mr. Pool for U. S. Senator, why are they running for Governor—what is the use in trying to make him Governor if he is to be sent to the United States Senate?—The people should know more about this game, and we call upon those having possession of the letter to publish it. Such a letter was written to Mr. Charles, and if Mr. Pool's friends wish to disprove the statement here made, let them publish the letter.—That's fair.

☞Never strike a child while you are in anger. Never interfere with your husband or wife in the correction of a child in its presence. The parents must be united, or there is an end to government. Never make light promises to children, of rewards or punishments; but scrupulously fulfil what you promise. Begin early with your children.—Break their temper if it is high, while young; it may cost you both a pang, but it will save you both afterwards; and then be steady in your government. Use the rod sparingly—It is better and easier to command from their love and respect than their fear. Keep these rules, and my word for it your children will be a happiness to you while young and an honor to you when they grow up.

WAVES OF THE ATLANTIC.—The highest waves of the Atlantic Ocean average in altitude, 43 feet; main distance between each wave, 559 feet; width from crest to crest, 600 feet; interval of time between each wave, 16 seconds; velocity of each wave per hour 32 1-2 miles.

THE WORST PART OF IT.—A popular writer says, it is not drinking but the getting sober, that is so terrible in a drunkard's life To this Prentice adds, some persons, influenced probably by this important consideration, seem to deliberately resolve never to get sober.

MR. JOHNSON FOR BRECKENRIDGE.—Andrew Johnson of Tennessee, who was one of many candidates proposed by the Douglas interest for the Vice Presidency, has surrendered to Mr. Breckenridge, like Messrs. Pryor, Clingman, Toombs, and others, who were regarded as among his supporters at the South.

Why is an unwelcome visitor like a shady tree? Because we are glad when he leaves.

Why is a person knocking at the door like an over coat? Because he is a wrapper.

General Lane.

The following notice of General Lane is from the pen of the President of the University of North Carolina:

CHAPEL HILL, October 23, 1859.

DEAR SIR: Your letter of the 14th, owing to my absence in the discharge of official duties, did not reach me until a day or two since, and I avail myself of the earliest practical opportunity to reply.

There is probably no family whose authentic history can be more closely traced through every period of the annals of North Carolina than that of Gen. Lane's. In proportion to numbers, comparatively few of its members have aspired to or obtained political distinction, or local distinction of any kind. On the other hand, there are probably few that have enjoyed greater average respectability.

Gen. Lane's great grandfather, Joseph, (who signed his name Joseph Lane, jr., in 1727,) died at his residence near Halifax, on the Roanoke, in 1776. His three sons, Joel, Joseph, and Jesse, were pioneer settlers in the neighborhood of Raleigh, in 1741.—Of these, Col. Joel was the wealthiest and most conspicuous. He conveyed to the State the 640 acres of land, the site of the present city of Raleigh. His dwelling house, at the period of its erection the best within a hundred miles, is the present residence of Andrew Bayler, Esq., and they were Whigs during the Revolution, and Col. Joel and Jesse did service in the army, the latter as a private.

Jesse was the grandfather of Gen. Joseph Lane and of myself. He was born in Halifax, July 4, 1722, and married Winifred Awek. They had sixteen children, eight sons and eight daughters, all of whom lived to bear families. In 1779 my grandfather emigrated to Wilkes, near Oglethorpe County, Ga., where he resided until 1800 when he removed to St. Louis, where he died in 1804, in the 82d year of his age. Gen. Lane is the son of John Lane, the eighth child and fourth son of our grandfather Jesse. At the time of the removal of the family to Georgia (1779,) Wilkes was a frontier county, and during a series of years subject to frequent invasions from the Creeks, and Cherokees.—There were no members of the family able to bear arms, whose services were not put into requisition and no one male or female, who was not familar with the horrors of savage warfare. My mother beguiled many an hour during my infancy, in the recital of hair breadth escapes, which, delicate woman as she was, rendered her personal history one of remarkable suffering and adventure.

I have no recollection of my grandfather or uncle John. The former visited my father on his way to Missouri, and the latter was an inmate of my family for some time previous to and subsequent to my birth. I heard much of him in my boyhood, and suppose that in all respects the son is the counterpart of the father, brave, enterprising and generous. He was an universal favorite in the midst of the men who fought at the Cowpens and King's Mountain, and who considered a foray among the Indians as little less than a pastime.

Gen. Lane's mother was Betsey, daughter of the first Sheriff of my native County (Buncombe). The descendants of the sixteen children of Jesse, are dispersed through all of the Western and Southern States.—Judge G. W. Lane, of Huntsville and Richard A. Lane, of Georgia, are cousins to Gen. Lane; Judge Colquitt, Senator of Atlanta, Ga., and Dr. Jones, recently of the House of Representatives, married his cousins.

I enter into these particulars simply to satisfy you that while the family of General Lane have no just pretensions to the praise of Heraldry, there is no cause, on the other hand, why they should blush for his ancestry or his connexions.

I write in considerable haste, but will be ready at any time to communicate more special information if it should be called.

Yours, very respectfully,
D. L. SWAIN.

AN ITEM FOR MOTHERS.—Drs. Behrend and Sieber recommend the medical use of sugar as a curative means of great value in diarrhae—one in a child aged four years—in which half an ounce of powdered white sugar given every hour, soon gave a favorable turn to symptoms of extreme gravity, which had long resisted all the ordinary means of cure. Other evidence of a similar character is promised, and it is believed that there are many conditions of diarrhea, particularly those in which there is a putrefactive tendency in the secretions, where sugar will, in all probability prove a most valuable remedy.

☞A fondness for children is considered a good trait in the men, except when the women are so jealous hearted that they cannot bear to see it.

Democracy United.

We hail with much pleasure the receipt of the N. C. Standard, with the Breckenridge and Lane ticket at the head of its columns, and calling for a rally of the Democracy on the present Electoral ticket for the State. Thus falls one of the most boasted hopes of the Opposition, to divide and distract the democracy of North Carolina. We expected nothing else from the Standard's long patriotic precedents. And we congratulate our fellow citizens and the country, that all the "signs of the times," among us, all point in the same right direction. One after another, all bars to democratic harmony have been removed. The public men, the presses and the masses of the democratic party in North Carolina, are now harmonious and united.

This is as it should be. Let us elect our Electoral ticket, and we have no fear that any individual preference will stand in the way of their casting the vote of the State, so as to assist in the complete defeat of the Black Republicans.

We will state, in this connection, many inquiries having been made of us as to Mr. Clingman's position, that we have heard his uniform expression of opinion to our people since his return from Washington, unhesitatingly and unqualifiedly urging an earnest and hearty support of the present Electoral ticket, in the full confidence that the electors will cast the vote of the State as duty and patriotism may demand in the coming crisis, and that by all means, there ought not to be any division of our vote.

The North Carolina democracy are united. Let not our enemies hope longer from any fancied dissension in our camp. And we look confidently to the good example of the good old North State being followed by her democratic sisters.

All right—files closed—ranks serried—shoulder to shoulder in the good old democratic style. The Abolitionists are already beginning to see they will have again to meet a harmonious democracy, and they tremble at the prospect. The Bell and Everett men need not be scared; nobody is going to hurt them, and they can hurt no body. The battle is again between the democracy and the Black Republicans. Let every democrat stand to his colors, and we fear not the result.

Public Speaking.

Messrs. Coleman and Merrimon,—Candidates for the Commons, will address the people in the Court-house, on Monday evening, (30th inst.,) at half past seven o'clock, P. M.

As these gentlemen have spoken here only once, and then at night, and the canvass having become quite exciting, much curiosity is manifested to hear them. A large turn out is expected.

☞ A zealous Oppositionist not long since declared that if his party could get the Legislature by one majority, and beat Clingman for the Senate, he was willing that Pool should be beaten forty thousand votes. Such declarations as these show how much real regard the Opposition have for John Pool and his hobby "ad valorem." They show that as the democrats have all along contended; their present platform has been adopted merely to get the control of the State, and secure the offices at the disposal of the Legislature.

☞ The population of Providence. R. I., is about 50,000 by the census just taken—a decrease.

The Second Day of August.

We beg leave to remind our readers that the people of this State will vote on Thursday the 2d day of August, for a Governor, members of the Legislature, and Sheriffs.

This is one of the most important elections which has been held in this State for years. It involves the political power of the State and the policy which shall govern the public councils in future. A United States' Senator, three Superior Court Judges, a Supreme Court Judge, all the State Officers, several Solicitors with the office of Attorney General, and the control of the public works, depend upon the result. We mention these things not as a paramount reason why Democrats should exert themselves—for the prosperity and well being of the State in any hands is always preferable to the mere possession of the offices,—but to show the important results which depend upon our action, and to admonish our friends of the necessity of extraordinary efforts to counteract the efforts of a party which has been deprived for years of the offices and honors, and which will work in season and out of season for success, stimulated as it is alike by ambition and love of place.

At the commencement of the campaign the general impression was that the Know Nothings were merely hoping to carry the Legislature, and that Mr. Pool had consented to run for Governor with no expectation of success, and only with the view of rallying his party so as to effect this object. But, from the heat and excitement of the contest new expectations and new calculations have arisen; and our opponents now claim both the Legislature and the Governor. Will the Democratic party, with 16,000 majority for Governor, and with fifty majority on joint ballot in the Legislature, permit them to achieve this result? We believe it will not. We believe that a signal victory awaits us on the 2d of next month, but in order to make assurance doubly sure, the necessary means must be used.

The time for argument has well nigh passed. Nearly every citizen has pretty well made up his mind as to the party and the persons for whom he will cast his vote; but, out of one hundred thousand voters, which is about the number usually polled in this State, there are always several thousands who are indifferent on the subject of politics, or who make up their minds as to their course only on the day of election. In addition to this, there are always in this State from three to five thousand votes unpolled. Here, then, is an inviting and profitable field for the operations of Democrats. Let them go into it and attend to it well. If the result is at all in doubt, a careful and active attention to these voters will insure us the victory. Be sure that

EVERY NEIGHBORHOOD IS CANVASSED, and that every available vote, which can honorably be obtained, is polled. Be sure to

BE AT THE POLLS EARLY IN THE DAY, and see to it that every Democrat has fair play. Beware also of false reports on the day of election about our candidate for Governor and the candidates for the Legislature. Some of the more unscrupulous of the Opposition have already started the false report that Gov. Ellis has witdrawn from the contest! And let us, in every instance, brother Democrats, regularly before the people in the various Counties. A party without organizing is like a ship at sea without rudder or compass.

STAND BY THE NOMINEES

A word or two in relation to our standard bearer, Gov. Ellis. We have been a close observer of his administration and of his public acts, and we believe he has been actuated by a sense of duty and by a sincere desire to promote the best interests of the State.—The State has prospered under his administration. The people have tried him as their chief Executive officer, and he has done well. Why turn him out of the place to make room for a new and untried man? So far as he is concerned we have his acts, but so far as Mr. Pool is concerned we have only his promises and professions. As we are writing the Wilmington Journal of the 18th is placed on our table, and in the language of that paper we ask,

"What has Governor Ellis done, or what has he left undone, that he should not be re-elected to the position which he now so worthily occupies? What duty has he neglected? To what section or interest has he proved unfaithful? In what respect have the interests on the credit of North Carolina suffered under the present Democratic administration of her affairs or finances? These would be questions which it would be hard for the opponents of Governor Ellis or of the Democratic party to answer. If they speak candidly, his most bitter opponents must give him credit for a faithful and able discharge of his official duties. Then, why this "wild hunt" for his defeat and extermination, save for party purposes—for party ends—to operate upon subsequent elections? Will the people of the State generally—the Democratic people in particular—suffer a true and tried public servant to be sacrificed to suit any such combination? to promote any such ends? Justice and fair dealing alike forbid! Come out and support ELLIS and the Democratic Legislative tickets in the several counties! Let every Democrat do his duty, and the cause will be safe."

We repeat the words, "let every Democrat do his duty." The election is close at hand. No time should be lost. Let the Democracy rally as of old, remembering that a full Democratic vote is always a Democratic victory.

These are the recognized leaders of the Democracy. Many of them have held the honored position for a quarter of a century or longer. Better than this, however, the Democratic masses, all that is pure and undefiled of Democracy, are just as earnest and enthusiastic for the regular nominations, Breckinridge and Lane.—New York Day Book.

Distressing Suicide by a Young Virginian.

A strange and melancholy case of suicide took place in Memphis, Tenn., last Saturday. The victim was a young man named John E. Jones, aged about 27 years, and son of Dr. Basil M. Jones, of Charlottesville, Va.—The circumstances connected with the case says the Memphis Enquirer, are as follows:

"Mr. Jones, who, for several days past, has been stopping at the Worsham House, in this city, repaired to his room yesterday morning, about 11 o'clock, where he remained until nearly 1 o'clock, having employed himself in the mean time by tearing into small fragments a large number of letters. Shortly after 1 o'clock, and about the time the guests of the House were taking dinner, a report of a pistol was heard, and nearly five minutes afterwards a second report proceeded from the same locality. The officers of the house immediately repaired to the room from whence the report came, but for a time were unable to gain admittance, the door being securely locked. An entrance, however, was effected by forcing the door, when one of the most horrid sights, upon which man ever gazed, presented itself to view. Mr. Jones was lying on the bed, still alive, though he had shot himself twice, both balls entering his head, one through the left corner of the right eye, the other through the right corner of the left eye, the latter ball having torn off half his nose, and almost one side of his head. The unfortunate man writhed in the most terrible agony for full half an hour after being discovered, when death kindly put an end to his sufferings, and his soul, unbidden, took its flight into eternity. Mr. Jones was a native of Virginia, and one of the most respectable families in the State. He was a graduate of the University of Virginia, and is said to have been a highly accomplished schollar. For several years he has been engaged in teaching school in Mississippi, but during the past few months has been the teacher of a school near the Female College, about two miles from this city. He did not leave behind him anything, as far as known, by which the cause of the rash act can be conjectured.

People of the East!

Bear in mind as you go to the polls to vote, that Gov. Ellis is opposed to a Convention; that he is opposed to disturbing the basis of representation, which a Convention would certainly do, if called on the basis advocated by Mr. Pool.

Bear in mind also that Gov. Ellis is opposed to Mr. Pool's plan of ad valorem, which, if adopted, would tax every thing from the smallest to the most valuable article of property.

Bear in mind also that Mr. Pool declared in the East that in his plan of ad valorem would not increase the tax on slaves; and that, if this assumption of his be correct, it will be necessary to raise several hundred thousand dollars out of articles now untaxed. These articles, now untaxed, are horses, cows, hogs, and household and kitchen furniture. Are the poor man of the East, or of the West either prepared for that? Are they prepared for any system of taxation which will add to their burdens without at the same time increasing the tax on slaves?

Bear in mind also that Mr. Pool was opposed to ad valorem until he conceived the idea of running for Governor; and that he is advocating it now, not because he cares about it particularly, but because he wants votes.

PEOPLE OF THE WEST!

Bear in mind that Mr. Pool voted while a member of the State Senate against the bill to aid the Western Extension; that after the bill had passed the Senate, and was in a fair way to become a law, he voted with Gen. Dockery to re consider it; and that he then voted to kill the bill. Mr. Pool now says he is a true friend to Western interests. He never said so until he wanted to be Governor. We know something about politicians like Mr. Pool, and we warn the people to take their acts rather than their words as evidence of their disposition to do right. John Pool is no friend to western interests. His whole record and all his speeches up to a recent period, are the other way.

Bear in mind also, people of the West, that John W. Ellis has always been your friend. He is one of you. His record is before you, and that record is full of proofs of his devotion to your interests. He has never done the East injustice, and he has never pandered to Eastern feeling as Mr. Pool has done, to obtain position at your expense.

PEOPLE OF THE STATE!

Bear in mind that John W. Ellis has acquitted himself well as your Governor. All your interests have prospered under his administration. No good reason exist why you should turn him out.

Remember these things fellow citizens, when you go to the polls to vote. And let the Democrats of the State especially stand firm and exert themselves between this period and the day of election, and on that day.—Thousands of votes are saved or lost on election day. Let us all remember that, and act accordingly.—Raleigh Standard.

Extraordinary Case.

On Friday, June 16th, we made a post mortem examination upon the body of Mr. John Kelly, who resided, at the time of his death, in the town of Black Brook.

In June, in 1842, he was accidentally shot at Chatham Four Corners, a place on the Western Rail Road, about twenty-five miles East of Albany. The bullet, passing through three boards before striking him, entered his right shoulder, passed towards the heart, and lodged under the collar bone near where it is united to the breast bone. This is substantiated by the amount of disease found at this place, and the further fact that the surgeon passed his probe in about four or five inches before reaching the ball. We found one of the veins closed and the artry ossified at this place.

We then examined the heart, and found it to resemble a stomach as much as a heart. The right side, especially, was very much charged, and seemed to be undergoing fatty degeneration.

While examining the heart, we found a large lump in the lower part of it. We introduced our finger into the right cavity of the heart, and found the lump to be in the substance of that organ; we then cut from the outside down on to the lump, and found it to be a leaden bullet.

Now, the question arises, how long has the ball been in that man's heart? Fourteen years ago he was very dangerously ill, and was attended by Dr. Terry, who did not expect his recovery. His difficulty at that time was inflamation of the lungs, and a most extraordinary disturbance of the heart's action. Since that illness his heart difficulty has continued to increase gradually—at times its beatings could be observed ten or fifteen feet distant. Our theory is, that this ball remained in the vein where it was lodged until fourteen yaars ago, when it passed into a larger vein, and thence into the heart, and there, irritating that delicate organ by its unnatural presence, caused the difficulty then, for the first time, observed.

Ten days before his death he took a severe cold, resulting in an inflamation of the lungs, and an aggravation of all the symptoms of disease of the heart, which continued unabated until the messenger of death relieved him of his earthly sufferings.

Scarcity of Corn.

Yesterday, we were conversing with an esteemed and very intelligent friend, who has a good knowledge of the country North-east of this. His representations of the miserable prospects of the growing corn crop—or rather the crop which should be growing—and the heavy indebtedness of the people, already incurred for breadstuffs, are very disheartening indeed. We are satisfied, from reliable sources, that the crop of Eastern Ala. and Western Georgia will fall short of the needs of home consumers; and if there should not be a heavy crop in South Alabama, backed by low prices in the West, there cannot but be immense suffering for "the staff of life." In all probability, corn will reach $2,00 by next Christmas, with little money in the country to purchase:

This is a subject most worthy of the consideration of our capitalists. Steps should be taken early, to prevent actual suffering.—And the sooner the state of the country is fully understood, the better it will be for all.

A Story for Boys.

It is related of a Persian mother that, on giving her son forty pieces of silver as his portion, she made him swear never to tell a lie.

"Go on, my son. I consign thee to God, and we shall not meet again til the day of judgment."

The youth went his way, and the party he travelled with were assailed by robbers.

One fellow asked the boy what he had, and he said:

"Forty dinners are sown up in my garments."

He laughed, thinking he jested.

Another asked him the same question, and received the same answer.

At last the chief called him and asked him the same question.

The boy said:

"I have told two of your people already that I have forty dinners sewed up in my clothes."

He ordered his clothes to be ripped open, and found the money.

"And how came you to tell this?" said the chief.

"Because I would not be false to my mother, to whom I promised never to tell a lie," said the boy."

"Child," said the robber, "art thou so mindful of thy duty to thy mother at thy years, and I am so insensible at my age of the duty I owe to God? Give me thy hand, that I may swear repentance on it."

"You have been our leader to sin," said they to the chief, be the same in the path of virtue." And they immediately made restitution on the boy's hand.

There is a good moral in this story, which goes beyond the direct influence of the mother on the child. The sentiments infused into the breast of a child are again transferred from breast to breast.

Breckinridge and Clay.

The response of Henry Clay to the speech of Mr. Breckinridge, delivered at Lexington, is often spoken of. The New Orleans Delta gives it as follows:

"Major Breckinridge, I congratulate you. You are worthy to represent the people of this district, whose esteem and favor have been the chief objects of my ambition, and the most precious rewards of my long and laborious life;" and then, dropping his voice to the milder tone of affection, he added:—"My dear John, be true to your name! Never forget you are a Kentuckian and a Breckinridge, and the highest honors of the Republic, or what is more valuable, the consciousness of having served well your country, will be your glorious rrward."

☞ An esteemed correspondent, writing from Smithfield, Johnson county, says:—"Breckinridge and Lane are undoubtedly the people's choice, but political managers are making efforts to enforce a Douglas ticket on the voters of N. C.

That is so. Breckinridge and Lane are the choice of North Carolina—the clear choice, political managers to the contrary notwithstanding. There is no use in trying to slur it over. Breckinridge and Lane form the strongest ticket in the field anywhere, or upon any ground. They are stronger in themselves than any other. They are stronger in their principles, and they are backed directly by the sure Democratic States and stand the best chance for the doubtful ones. The game of brag and management won't pay.—Wilmington Journal.

GOV. WISE.—A correspondent of the New York Herald, writing of a late visit to Gov. Wise, at his residence in Prince Anne, Va., describes his dress as follows:

His whole dress consisted of a Panama hat, and that by no means new; a plain white linen coat, white "Russia duck" pantaloons folded up at the bottom, and a pair of shoes, in perfect keeping with the other portions of his dress. He had with him, leaning on his left arm, an axe, which gave him peculiarly the appearance of a backwoodsman who was ready for anything, from a bear to a highwayman.

OPPOSITION MORALITY.—In the late discussion between Elward Graham Haywood, Esq., and Dr. Speed, Mr. Haywood asked the Doctor "if he was in favor of taxing ten dollars worth of Bibles, as much as ten dollars worth of Bowie Knives," and the Doctor answered "he was!!" Of course the Doctor advocates ad valorem taxation.—Warrenton News.

An association for this purpose has been formed in London, with the Earl of Shaftesbury as its President, and an acting-committee of thirty one gentlemen, composed of different denominations, the Baptists however, being in the ascendant.

☞ A new programe for the Mormons is indicated. It is now proposed that they shall emigrate to one of the East India Islands, and reliable information is said to have been received that they will do so. The enterprise is to be carried out under the supervision of Capt. Walter M. Gibson.

The Sight of a Beautiful Blind Girl Restored by Marriage.

The Cincinnati Press, of Thursday last, says:

A physiological wonder occurred a short time since, in this city, which will doubtless prove as interesting to our readers, as it already has to physiologists and oculists. A young and exceedingly interesting girl residing on Eighth street, whose name we subpress from motives of delicacy, and whose amiable disposition, elegant manners and placid beauty of soul, had endeared her to all who knew her, was, a year or two ago compelled to discontinue her studies and leave school, in consequence of a partial loss of eye-sight that threatened to become total.

She was entirely unable to read, and although she could see well enough to enable her to walk about, visit her friends and entertain them when they called upon her, the threatened loss of sight gave her much annoyance, and aroused the sympathies of all who became acquainted with the facts.

A number of our skillful physicians were employed by the family, and she was even taken to some of our most noted oculists; but all their learning, dexterity, and management proved unvailing. Her eyes looked healthy, were beautifully pensive in their expression, and seemed deep as her soul was pure, but they were, nevertheless, to her almost wholly useless.

Notwithstanding this rather melancholy physical defect, a young man, who had long been devoted to her, offered her his hand in marriage. She demurred, and through an excess of affection, refused to bestow it upon the man who had long since won her heart, stating that she never would consent to become a burthen upon the man she loved. For a long time he persisted in his suit, and at length, through his praises and sighs, made her believe that life with her even if she were wholly blind, were better than a Paradise where she was not.

A month or two ago her resolution, was rescinded, and she became his wife; and, strange as it may seem, from that day her eye sight began to improve, and she is now able to read the finest print by gas-light, without pain and without any apparent optical injury. The case has caused considerable sensation among those who are conversant with the circumstance as a well established ocular fact, it is a practical illustration of what has been cleverly, and wittily said, "that Love is blind, but Hymen is the oculist who alone can open his eyes."

The Good Old Tunes.

There is, to us, more touching pathos, heart thrilling expression, more feeling displayed, in some of the old psalm tunes than in a whole batch of modernisms. The strains go home, and the "fountain of the great deep is broken up"—the great deep of unfathomed feeling that lies far, far below the surface of the world-hardened heart; and as the untoward yet unchecked tear starts in the eye, the softened spirit yields to their influence and shakes off the load of earthly care, rising, purified and spiritualized, into a pure atmosphere.—Strange, inexplicable associations brood over the mind, mingling their chaste melody of the musings of a still subdued, more cheerful character. How many glad hearts in the olden time have rejoiced in these songs of praise—how many sighed out their complaints in the plaintive notes that steal sadly, yet sweetly on the ear—hearts that now cold in death, are laid to rest, around that sacred tune, within whose walls they had so often swelled with emotion.—Blackwood.

A Beautiful Idea.

Away among the Alleghanies, there is a spring so small that a single ox, in a summer's day, could drain it dry. It steals its unobtrusive way among the hills, till it spreads out into the beautiful Ohio. Thence it stretches out a thousand miles, leaving on its banks more than a hundred villages and cities, and many a cultivated farm, and bearing on its bosom more than half a thousand steam boats. Then joining the Mississippi, it stretches away and away some twelve hundred miles more, till it falls into the great emblem of eternity. It is one of the great tributaries of the ocean, which, obedient only to God, shall roll and roar till the angel, with one foot on the sea and the other on the land, shall lift up his hands to heaven, and swear that time shall be no longer. So with moral influence. It is a rill—a rivulet—an ocean, boundless and fathomless as eternity.

[Southern Illinoisan.

☞ If we would know how to manage a little child, let us imagine how Jesus would have treated it. Would he not have engaged its happiest feelings and affections—won its heart and blessed it? An angel would be more succesful in his teachings, only because he would be more gentle, more attractive, and more symyathizing. He would have no greater truths to inculcate than we have, but knowing more clearly than we do the delicacy of our mysterious constitution, and the worth of a soul with its intellect and affections formed for eternity, he would act more cautiously with its bodily temperament. DR. MOORE.

A Celebrated writer says: No WOMAN can be a lady who can wound or mortify another. No matter how beautiful how refined, how cultivated she may be, she is in reality coarse, and the innate vulgarity of her nature manifests itself here. Uniformly kind, courteous and polite treatment of all persons, is one mark of true woman.

THE WAY TO KILL FLEAS.—One of our townsmen has been making experiments in the way of flea-killing. His first experiment proves quite successful. In order to rid an infant Cat of these jumping gentlemen, he applied Spirits of Turpentine. Having given the kitten a thorough bathing, both it and its tormentors perished together. There will be mewing among the fleas and cats that attend the funeral.—Rock Hill Crronicle.

☞ A newly-married lady, who, as in duty bound, was very fond of her husband, notwithstanding his extreme ugliness of person, once said to a witty friend, 'What do you think? My husband has laid out fifty guineas for a large baboon on purpose to please me!'—'The dear little man!' cried the other. 'Well, its just like him.'

DR. J. A. CLOPTON—Dear Sir: Yours dated 3d inst., came to hand about ten days ago. I should have written sooner but got one of my hands badly hurt. The Ointment I got from you, I think three years ago, made a perfect cure of a sore on my face of long standing. It has been a neglect in me not to acknowledge it sooner.—There are two men in my neighborhood afflicted with cancer. I presume these cases have too far advanced to be cured. E. H. McClure has one which began just under the eye, and has gone round the eye. The eye if not destroyed is sunk. Robert Hunter's began close to his ear where the jaw bone works up to the ear, now spread all round, got down on his neck. I done my best two years ago for them to go and see you. Hunter started, got into Georgia, met with some old woman who undertook his case and he turned back. Willis Lunsford took my advice, he got the Ointment from you some months ago, he is now completely cured. The place I described to you on my breast I think is probably cured or checked for the present.

Respectfully yours,
WM. COLEMAN.

Rx AYER'S Cathartic Pills,

(SUGAR COATED,)

ARE MADE TO

CLEANSE THE BLOOD AND CURE THE SICK.

Invalids, Fathers, Mothers, Physicians, Philanthropists, read their Effects, and judge of their Virtues.

FOR THE CURE OF

Headache, Sick Headache, Foul Stomach.

PITTSBURG, PA., May 1, 1855.

DR. J. C. AYER. SIR: I have been repeatedly cured of the worst headache any body can have by a dose or two of your Pills. It seems to arise from a foul stomach, which they cleanse at once. If they will cure others as they do me, the fact is worth knowing.

Yours with great respect, ED. W. PREBLE,
Clerk of Steamer Clarion.

Bilious Disorders and Liver Complaints.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR, WASHINGTON, D. C., 7 Feb., 1856.

SIR: I have used your Pills in my general and hospital practice ever since you made them, and cannot hesitate to say they are the best cathartic we employ. Their regulating action on the liver is quick and decided, consequently they are an admirable remedy for derangements of that organ. Indeed, I have seldom found a case of bilious disease so obstinate that it did not readily yield to them.

Fraternally yours, ALONZO BALL, M. D.,
Physician of the Marine Hospital.

Dysentery, Relax, and Worms.

POST OFFICE, HARTLAND, LIV. CO., MICH., Nov. 16, 1855.

DR. AYER: Your Pills are the perfection of medicine. They have done my wife more good than I can tell you. She had been sick and pining away for months. Went off to be doctored at great expense, but got no better. She then commenced taking your Pills, which soon cured her, by expelling large quantities of worms (dead) from her body. They afterwards cured her and our two children of bloody dysentery. One of our neighbors had it bad, and my wife cured him with two doses of your Pills, while others around us paid from five to twenty dollars doctors' bills, and lost much time, without being cured entirely even then. Such a medicine as yours, which is actually good and honest, will be prized here.

GEO. J. GRIFFIN, Postmaster.

Indigestion and Impurity of the Blood.

From Rev. J. V. Himes, Pastor of Advent Church, Boston.

DR. AYER: I have used your Pills with extraordinary success in my family and among those I am called to visit in distress. To regulate the organs of digestion and purify the blood they are the very best remedy I have ever known, and I can confidently recommend them to my friends. Yours, J. V. HIMES.

WARSAW, WYOMING CO., N. Y., Oct. 24, 1855.

DEAR SIR: I am using your Cathartic Pills in my practice, and find them an excellent purgative to cleanse the system and purify the fountains of the blood.

JOHN G. MEACHAM, M. D.

Erysipelas, Scrofula, King's Evil, Tetter, Tumors, and Salt Rheum.

From a Forwarding Merchant of St. Louis, Feb. 4, 1856.

DR. AYER: Your Pills are the paragon of all that is great in medicine. They have cured my little daughter of ulcerous sores upon her hands and feet that had proved incurable for years. Her mother had been long grievously afflicted with blotches and pimples on her skin and in her hair. After our child was cured, she also tried your Pills, and they have cured her. ASA MORGRIDGE.

Rheumatism, Neuralgia, and Gout.

From the Rev. Dr. Hawles, of the Methodist Epis. Church.

PULASKI HOUSE, SAVANNAH, GA., Jan. 6, 1856.

HONORED SIR: I should be ungrateful for the relief your skill has brought me if I did not report my case to you. A cold settled in my limbs and brought on excruciating neuralgic pains, which ended in chronic rheumatism. Notwithstanding I had the best of physicians, the disease grew worse and worse, until, by the advice of your excellent agent in Baltimore, Dr. Mackenzie, I tried your Pills. Their effects were slow, but sure. By persevering in the use of them, I am now entirely well.

SENATE CHAMBER, BATON ROUGE, LA., 5 Dec., 1855.

DR. AYER: I have been entirely cured by your Pills of Rheumatic Gout—a painful disease that had afflicted me for years. VINCENT SLIDELL.

For Dropsy, Plethora, or Kindred Complaints, requiring an active purge, they are an excellent remedy.

For Costiveness or Constipation, and as a Dinner Pill, they are agreeable and effectual.

Fits, Suppression, Paralysis, Inflammation, and even Deafness, and Partial Blindness, have been cured by the alterative action of these Pills.

Most of the Pills in market contain Mercury, which, although a valuable remedy in skilful hands, is dangerous in a public pill, from the dreadful consequences that frequently follow its incautious use. These contain no mercury or mineral substance whatever.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL

FOR THE RAPID CURE OF

COUGHS, COLDS, HOARSENESS, INFLUENZA, BRONCHITIS, WHOOPING COUGH, CROUP, ASTHMA, INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION, and for the relief of consumptive patients in advanced stages of the disease.

We need not speak to the public of its virtues. Throughout every town, and almost every hamlet of the American States, its wonderful cures of pulmonary complaints have made it already known. Nay, few are the families in any civilized country on this continent without some personal experience of its effects; and fewer yet the communities any where which have not among them some living trophy of its victory over the subtle and dangerous diseases of the throat and lungs. While it is the most powerful antidote yet known to man for the formidable and dangerous diseases of the pulmonary organs, it is also the pleasantest and safest remedy that can be employed for infants and young persons. Parents should have it in store against the insidious enemy that steals upon them unprepared. We have abundant grounds to believe the Cherry Pectoral saves more lives by the consumptions it prevents than those it cures. Keep it by you, and cure your colds while they are curable, nor neglect them until no human skill can master the inexorable canker that, fastened on the vitals, eats your life away. All know the dreadful fatality of lung disorders, and as they know too the virtues of this remedy, we need not do more than to assure them it is still made the best it can be. We spare no cost, no care, no toil to produce it the most perfect possible, and thus afford those who rely on it the best agent which our skill can furnish for their cure.

HOWARD ASSOCIATION
PHILADELPHIA

A Benevolent Institution established by special Endowment for the Relief of the Sick and Distressed, afflicted with Virulent and Epidemic Diseases.

THE HOWARD ASSOCIATION, in view of the awful destruction of human life, caused by Sexual diseases and the deceptions practiced upon the unfortunate victims of such diseases by Quacks, several years ago directed their Consulting Surgeon, as a Charitable Act worthy of their name, to open a Dispensary for the treatment of this class of diseases in all their forms, and to give Medical Advice Gratis to all who apply by letter, with a description of their condition, habits, (age, occupation habits of life, &c.,) and in cases of extreme poverty, to Furnish Medicines Free of Charge. It is needless to add that the Association commands the highest Medical skill of the age and will furnish the most approved modern treatment.

The Directors of the Association, in their Annual Report upon the treatment of Sexual Diseases, express the highest satisfaction with the success which has attended the labors of their Surgeon in the cure of Spermatorrhœa, Seminal Weakness, Impotence, Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Syphilis, the vice of Onanism or Self-abuse, Diseases of the Kidneys, Bladder, &c., and order a continuance of the same plan for the ensuing year.

The Directors, on a review of the past, feel assured that their labors in this sphere of benevolent effort have been of great benefit to the afflicted, especially to the young, and they have resolved to devote themselves, with renewed zeal, to this very important and much despised cause.

An admirable Report on Spermatorrhœa, or Seminal Weakness, the vice of Onanism, Masturbation, or Self-abuse, and other diseases of the sexual organs, by the Consulting Surgeon, will be sent by mail (in a sealed envelope) Free of Charge on receipt of TWO STAMPS for postage.—Other Reports and Tracts on the nature and treatment of sexual diseases, diet, &c., are constantly being published for gratuitous distribution, and will be sent to the afflicted. Some of the new remedies and methods of treatment discovered during the last year, are of great value.

Address for Report or treatment, Dr. J. SKILLIN HOUGHTON, Acting Surgeon, Howard Association, No. 2 South Ninth Street Philadelphia, Pa.

By order of the Directors.

HOSTETTER'S
STOMACH BITTERS,

For the cure of Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Nausea, Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, or any Bilious Complaints arising from a morbid inaction of the Stomach or Bowels, producing Cramps, Dysentery, Colic, Cholera Morbus, &c.

In view of the fact that every member of the human family is more or less subjected to some of the above complaints, besides innumerable other conditions in life, which, by the assistance of a little knowledge or exercise of common sense, they may be able so to regulate their habits of diet, and with the assistance of a good tonic, secure permanent health. In order to accomplish this desired object, the true course to pursue is, certainly, that which will produce a natural state of things at the least hazard of vital strength and life; for this end Dr. Hostetter has introduced to this country a preparation called HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, which at this day is not a new medicine, but one that has been tried for years, giving satisfaction to all who have used it. The Bitters operate powerfully upon the stomach, bowels and liver, restoring them to a healthy and vigorous action, and thus by the simple process of strengthening nature, enable the system to triumph over disease. Diarrhœa, dysentery or flux, so generally contracted by new settlers, and caused principally by the change of water and diet, will be speedily regulated by a brief use of this preparation. Dyspepsia, a disease which is probably more prevalent when taken in all its various forms, than any other; the cause of which may always be attributed to derangements of the digestive organs, can be cured without fail by using HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS as per directions on the bottle. For this disease every physician will recommend Bitters of some kind, then why not use an article known to be infallible? Every country have their Bitters as a preventive of disease, and strengthening of the system in general, and among them all there is not to be found a more healthy people than the Germans, from whom this preparation emanated, based upon scientific experiments which has attended to advance the destiny of this great preparation in the medical scale of science.

FEVER AND AGUE.

This trying and provoking disease, which fixes its relentless grasp on the body of man, reducing him to a mere shadow in a short space of time, and rendering him physically and mentally useless, can be defeated and driven from the body by the use of HOSTETTER'S RENOWNED BITTERS. Further, any of the above stated diseases can not be contracted when exposed to any ordinary conditions producing them, if the Bitters are used as per directions. And as it neither creates nausea nor offends the palate, and rendering unnecessary any change of diet or interruption to usual pursuits, but promotes sound sleep and healthy digestion, the complaint is thus removed as speedily as is consistent with the production of a thorough and permanent cure.

For Persons in advanced years

Who are suffering from an enfeebled constitution and infirm body, these Bitters are invaluable as a restorative of strength and vigor, and needs only to be tried to be appreciated. And to a mother while nursing, these Bitters are indispensable, especially where the mother's nourishment is inadequate to the demands of the child, consequently her strength must yield, and here it is where a good tonic, such as Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is needed to impart temporary strength and vigor to the system. Ladies should by all means try this remedy for all cases of debility, and before so doing, ask your physician, who, if he is acquainted with the virtues of the Bitters, will recommend their use in all cases of weakness.

CAUTION.—We caution the public against using any of the many imitations or counterfeits, but ask for HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS, and see that each bottle has the words "Dr. J. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters" blown on the side of the bottle, and stamped on the metallic cap covering the cork, and observe that our autograph signature is on the label.

SANFORD'S
LIVER INVIGORATOR,

PREPARED by Dr. Sanford, compounded entirely from Gums, is one of the best PURGATIVE AND LIVER MEDICINES now before the public.

These Gums remove all morbid or bad matter from the system supplying in their place a healthy flow of bile, invigorating the stomach causing food to digest well, purifying the blood, giving tone and health to the whole machinery, removing the cause of the disease—effecting a radical cure.

Billious attacks are cured and what is better, prevented by the occasional use of the Liver Invigorator.

One dose after eating is sufficient to relieve the stomach and prevent the food from rising and souring.

Only one dose taken before retiring prevents nightmare.

Only one dose taken at night, loosens the bowels gently, and cures costiveness.

One dose taken after each meal will cure Dyspepsia.

One dose of two tea spoonfuls will always relieve Sick Headache.

Only one dose immediately relieves Colic, while

One dose often repeated is a sure cure for cholera morbus, and a preventive of cholera.

Only one bottle is needed to throw out of the system the effects of medicine after a long spell of sickness.

One bottle taken for Jaundice removes all allowness or unnatural color from the face.

One dose taken a short time before eating gives vigor to the appetite and makes the food digest well.

One dose, often repeated cures Chronic Diarrhœa in its worst form while Summer and Bowel Complaints yield almost to the first dose.

A few bottles will cure Dropsy by exciting the absorbents.

We take pleasure in recommending this medicine as a preventative for Fever and Ague, chill Fever, and all Fevers of a Billious type. It operates with certainty, and thousands are willing to testify to its wonderful virtues.

All who use it are giving their unanimous testimony in its favor.

Mix Water in the mouth with the Invigorator, and swallow both together.
